Kansas State High School Activities Association observance of National High School Activities Week

2022 marks the 43rd observance of National High School Activities Week. This anniversary presents new opportunities to the KSHSAA and its member schools for promoting this important program. To increase the public's awareness and appreciation of activity programs, a special emphasis on SPORTSMANSHIP will be continued.

The National Federation Sportsmanship, Ethics and Integrity Committee has recommended the week-long celebration of values attendant to interscholastic activities highlight the membership's number one priority... SPORTSMANSHIP!

Emphasis on all activities spotlighted by special days of the week

Planning and publicity are the key ingredients in gaining essential public, parental and student support of your activities program. National High School Activities Week is a great opportunity for intensified campaigning to inform and gain enthusiastic support of the activity program in your school system. To assist your efforts, the KSHSAA has mailed this information packet to all member schools with sample news releases, public service announcements and governmental proclamations which you can adapt to fit your particular needs. One of the most valuable resources of our nation, state and community are the coaches, sponsors and officials who devote hundreds of hours to developing girls and boys physically, mentally and emotionally (mind, body and spirit) through high school activities. These individuals need and deserve positive public recognition and support on their day. They need to know their hours of effort expended on behalf of young people throughout the school year is appreciated and acknowledged. Coaches and sponsors are an integral part of the Activities + Academics = Curriculum Partner's equation for education excellence.

NATIONAL FINE ARTS ACTIVITIES DAY

National High School Activities Week
October 9-15, 2022

High schools in Kansas and across the nation will be recognizing and honoring their music and speech directors, coaches and conductors Monday, October 10, which has been declared National Fine Arts Activities Day.

The Kansas State High School Activities Association (KSHSAA) is calling upon the State of Kansas to recognize the valuable contributions which dedicated professionals make to the education of young people and, through them, to the American society. Each school and community is urged to honor their high school fine arts staff members at school assemblies, through the news media and at civic gatherings.

Some of the most valuable resources of our nation, state and community are the individuals who devote hundreds of hours to develop boys and girls mentally, physically and emotionally through interscholastic activities.

Over 76,000 high school musicians and an additional 12,000 debate and speech students participated in the interscholastic activity program of Kansas in 2021-22. Truly, the time spent by instructors working with these thousands of young people is immeasurable.

Directors, coaches and conductors deserve public recognition and support this day. They need to know the hours of effort expended on behalf of millions of youngsters throughout the school year is appreciated and acknowledged. They are very deserving of the attention which they will receive on National Fine Arts Activities Day, October 10.

NATIONAL OFFICIALS DAY

National High School Activities Week
October 9-15, 2022

Sports officials and activity judges throughout the nation will be recognized and honored on Tuesday, which has been declared National Officials Day.

The Kansas State High School Activities Association (KSHSAA) is calling all Kansans to recognize the valuable contributions these individuals make to all activity programs.

Officials, regardless of sport or activity, are an integral part of all activities. Their loyalty to the rules of the activity, with a neutral application of the rules, is based on their desire to insure fairness for all contestants.

Judges and officials deserve public recognition and support on their day. They need to know their dedication is a service to the youth of the nation.

Judges and officials, the neutral component. Where would we be without them?

NATIONAL YOUTH HEALTH AWARENESS DAY

Wellness KANSAS reaches in excess of 100,000 Kansas students (grades 7-12) with messages of chemical health annually through their involvement in school activities.

NATIONAL COACHES/SPONSORS ADVISORS DAY

National High School Activities Week
October 9-15, 2022

The Kansas State High School Activities Association is calling upon the State of Kansas to recognize the valuable contributions which coaches/sponsors/advisors make to the education of young people and, through them, to American society. Each school and community is urged to honor its school activities staff at school assemblies, at halftimes of games and other events, or at civic gatherings on October 13.

Among the most valuable resources of our nation, state and community are the coaches who devote hundreds of hours to developing girls and boys mentally, physically and emotionally (mind, body and spirit) through interscholastic athletics/activities. Truly, the time spent by coaches working with the millions of youngsters competing in interscholastic athletic programs is immeasurable.

Coaches/sponsors/advisors need public recognition and support on their day. They need to know the hours of effort expended on behalf of millions of youngsters throughout the school year is appreciated and acknowledged. They are very deserving of the attention which they will receive on National Coaches/Sponsors/Advisors Day.

This national observance was first authorized by Public law 92-409, passed by Congress in August, 1972, and signed by Former President Richard Nixon. Through the joint efforts of the National Federation Coaches Association, the National Sporting Goods Association and the National Federation of State High School Associations, this special day was set aside to draw attention to the interscholastic program, to recognize our best coaches/sponsors/advisors, and to motivate all coaches to do the best possible job of educating boys and girls through interscholastic programs.

NATIONAL FAN APPRECIATION DAY

National High School Activities Week
October 9-15, 2022

Your ticket to an interscholastic athletic event is a privilege, a privilege to watch youngsters learn on the playing field. One of the lessons taught to players is one spectators can follow as well—that of good sportsmanship. Unruly behavior is unacceptable in the classroom, and the athletic field is a classroom.

“One person practicing good sportsmanship is far better than fifty others preaching about it.”

NATIONAL COMMUNITY SERVICE PARTICIPATION DAY

National High School Activities Week
October 9-15, 2022

The Kansas Association for Youth (KAY) is a character-building, leadership training, service organization directed by the KSHSAA. This nationally acclaimed program provides students an opportunity to learn to assume their citizenship responsibilities by providing service to their school, community, nation and world. These service projects produce an awareness and put citizenship into action.

The KAY Handbook contains numerous ideas for service projects. Some community service ideas include:

ADOPT-A-HIGHWAY—Assist in cleaning up litter on the highway roadside. KDOT is looking for non-profit groups of individuals (over 11 years of age) to adopt 2-3 miles of highway. KDOT provides safety vests, bags and a roadside sign, designating your group's adoption. They ask that you clean the highway three times a year. Please call your area KDOT office for information, or call 785-296-3585.

BLOODMOBILE — Assist with publicity and registration; encourage donors to give.

CLEAN UP & BEAUTIFICATION BRIGADE — Rake leaves, pull weeds and pick up trash in the city park, etc. Clean up roadways leading into the community. Paint park benches or areas with graffiti, etc.

COMMUNITY RUMMAGE SALE — Organize a community-wide rummage sale; secure site, publicize, offer to pick up items; arrange for concessions, etc.

HEALTH FAIR — Distribute brochures on a wide variety of topics; provide cholesterol screenings, etc.

SENIOR CITIZENS — Offer an "errand-running" service for the elderly in your community. Offer to do odd jobs for those unable to maintain their yards.

WALKER SAFETY — Draw a map of safe areas around town and provide mileage for each route.

WINTER SAFETY MEETINGS — Promote safety. Hold a community-wide assembly on severe winter driving, being stranded, survival and winter car maintenance.

How can we PROMOTE Activities Week?

The key to the week is TOTAL INVOLVEMENT of school and community groups. Here are some suggestions:

1. Select a prominent person from your community to serve as chairperson of "Activities Week" and develop a public awareness program (news releases and conferences, radio and television appearances, etc.) using the community chairperson's involvement and reputation. This chairperson may agree to assist in or direct (under school supervision) the week's activities and promotion.
2. Mail letters to the leaders of civic groups in your community informing them of "Activities Week," and each special emphasis day. (See sample letter in this brochure.)
3. Mail a letter to your mayor requesting his/her support of National High School Activities Week.
4. You may request a proclamation be signed by your mayor designating National High School Activities Week in your community. Indicate the federal government recognizes that school academics and activities are complementary and necessary to the proper development of future United States citizens.
5. Deliver a news release in September and October on "Activities Week" (and each special emphasis day) to the newspaper, radio and television offices in your community. (Sample news releases are included in this brochure.) Supplement this release with reports on the scope and value of your interscholastic program and the special events planned in conjunction with "Activities Week."
6. Distribute "spot" public service announcements to radio and television stations in your area. Distribute promotional messages to newspapers, radio and television. (See sample messages and public service announcement scripts in this brochure.)
7. A speakers bureau could be developed to be used by the various civic and community groups. These speakers could be scheduled to address groups during "Activities Week" and be available for the remainder of the school year to promote your activities' programs.
8. Arrange for newspaper, radio and television coverage of activities planned by school administration/faculty, students, student organizations and community to observe "Activities Week." This is done by accurately informing media well in advance of names, places and specific events.
9. Put an announcement in the student newspaper and in each athletic contest program during September and October promoting National High School Activities Week.
10. Plan and actively promote activities to involve faculty, students and community each day of National High School Activities Week.

SAMPLE Promotional Messages:

1. During the week of October 9-15, communities across the United States will make an investment in America's greatest resource—its youth—by celebrating National High School Activities Week. Please call your school to learn how you can help.
2. The membership of the Kansas State High School Activities Association coordinates interscholastic activities programs for almost 800 middle/junior and senior high schools in Kansas. The activities range from football to forensics and from basketball to band. Thousands of boys and girls enjoy these programs and are educated through them. School activities are the other half of education.
3. Because they're fun, high school activities attract thousands of participants each year. But school activities also educate, helping boys and girls develop mentally, physically and emotionally. The Kansas State High School Activities Association urges you to support this valuable part of education.
4. America's greatest resource—its youth—needs the continual guidance, friendship and leadership provided through participation in high school athletics. Without another great American resource—the high school coach—this would not be possible. The Kansas State High School Activities Association strongly urges all communities and schools to honor coaches during National High School Activities Week, October 9-15. Help keep America's youth strong.
5. School Activities + Academics = Curriculum Partners in Education Excellence is supported by approximately two percent of the school budget in most communities. That's the best bargain in education. The Kansas State High School Activities Association urges you to support high school activities which educate boys and girls with unmatched economic efficiency.

Academics + Activities = Curriculum Partners

Why have student activities?

In the last few years the value of high school activities has been questioned. First of all, they are not separate but an integral part of our overall education program. A good, well-rounded education means not only one that is academically oriented, but one that also includes a physical, social and emotional development. These are available through a good school activities program.

Activities are a citizenship laboratory

Participation in activities encompasses all races and creeds and teaches a student that it is a privilege and an honor to represent his or her school. Students learn that activities are important because they show a person how to win and how to lose. Activities teach self-confidence, poise, respect for the rules and good sportsmanship. Through participation in activities, students learn tolerance and understanding for people and how to control their emotions. They also learn the self-satisfaction of accomplishing a goal.

Activities provide “growing up” experiences

Interscholastic activities constitute a part of the right kind of growing experiences for American boys and girls. Youth are interested in doing things well—in belonging—in displaying loyalty. With a well-administered school program, students and spectators become better citizens through participation and observance of activities conducted under established rules impartially administered.

Activities encourage physical and mental excellence

Documented reports and statistics from the high schools of Kansas continue to show the “holding power” of the activities program. Those students engaged in any phase of the extracurricular program show a drop-out rate far below that of the uninvolved student. Over 90% of those students who drop out of school at the senior high level have never been involved in any activity as representatives of their school!

Participation increases GPA

Grade point averages of students in athletics, speech, music, spirit groups, club programs, etc., rank well above those students who choose not to participate. Statistics point out “the more participation the better the GPA”.

Activities reach out to the community

Activities in our Kansas schools will be as good and as sound as those who administer and support them. Rules and regulations are valueless unless they are embedded in the “grassroots” of the local school and community. The underlying philosophy of interscholastic activities presupposes that they are for the good of the students themselves—just as are the other phases of the educational program. This is the way the citizens of Kansas want them to be.

There Are Little Eyes Watching

*There are little eyes upon you,
And they're watching night and day.
There are little ears that quickly
Take in every word you say.
There are little hands all eager
To do anything you do;
And a little one who's dreaming
Of the day they'll be like you.*

*You're the little child's idol;
You're the wisest of the wise.
In their little mind about you,
No suspicions ever rise;
They believe in you devoutly,
Hold all you say and do,
They will say and do, in your way,
When they've grown up to be like you.*

*There are wide-eyed little children
Who believe you're always right;
And their ears are always open
And they're watching day and night;
You are setting an example
Every day in all you do,
For the little ones who are waiting
To grow up and be like you.*
